

Literature Study Group

This new group for 2017 meets on the 3rd Wednesday of each month from 10am to 12pm in the Crafton Room, Crafton Green, Stansted.

We read and study serious literature, poetry or plays together – new or old and worldwide. Our Studies will include some biographical information about the chosen author and of the social and cultural ethos of the era in which their work was written. Members will be involved in the selection of books and may volunteer to prepare short presentations on their chosen author, as outlined above.

The first book for the year, for those who want to make a start with their reading is: A Tale of Two Cities by Charles Dickens . Other authors on our suggestions list include: William Gould; Margaret Attwood; Marcus Zusak; John Williams and Wilkie Collins.

If you enjoy a good read, a good discussion and good company, why not come along?
